Advice and information

We provide a statutory information, advice and signposting service on health and social care, to help people get the information they need from a trusted source.

We have a telephone advice line, strong social media presence and a website. We frequently speak to people in their local communities, working with the voluntary sector to reach those people who are seldom heard. We give people access to trusted national and local information and services.

Where is our insight coming from?

We have a busy community engagement programme and have been attending local events and community hubs. People are also able to share their experiences with us via social media, through partner and voluntary sector organisations, by post, telephone, via our website, face to face, text or email.

We will be launching regular surveys to gather feedback about things that are important to local people. This will include surveys about health and social care priorities and looking at people's experience of health and social care services.
